

I want to strongly encourage the commission to, at the very least, delay a decision on the relaxing of media ownership rules. From the huge outpouring of opposition to this move, it should be clear that more time should be spent exploring the possible consequences of extending the 35 percent rule. All I ask is that you LISTEN to what the public is saying. That is democracy, and it works.

Please know that although I am sending only one message, there are dozens of people I know personally who agree with me on this. This is much more than just a comment. Please try to understand this fact.

Thank you.
